

JOIN US for TG(AI)F!

Friday, April 10th
10:00am–3:00pm

College Center 220
and Zoom

RSVP via QR code
Lunch provided

TIME

SPEAKER(S)

TOPIC

10:00–11:00am

Robin Cunconan-Lahr
and Megan Nocek

Obstacles & Opportunities: The History of American Higher Ed

11:00am–12:00pm

Keynote: Dr. Susan Ray

This Moment in Education: AI, Responsibility, and What Comes Next

12:00–1:30pm

Lunch Roundtable Discussion

1:30–2:00pm

Abigail Michelini

Where are we with AI?
NCC AI Survey Results

2:00–3:00pm

Karin Donahue, Brian Stokes,
and Deanna Hammarsten

Takeaways from Teaching Professor
Conference on AI in Education

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Susan Ray

*Dr. Susan Ray is an Associate Professor of English at Delaware County Community College. Her scholarship spans Victorian literature, gender theory, and popular culture, with recent work focusing on AI literacy in higher education. She advocates for transparent, ethical classroom practices that treat AI as a literacy to develop rather than a shortcut. She serves as an AI consultant for AAC&U and Norton Publishing, has appeared on multiple education podcasts, and has published in outlets such as EdSurge. Her chapter "The Fourth Literacy: Teaching College Composition When AI Is Already Here" recently appeared in the collection What Education Becomes: Reimagining Learning After AI.*

