

Leadership Certificate Program

Presented by NCC's Center for Business & Industry

Good leaders are essential to the success of both the business and the employees. Great leaders connect people to their work, respond to whatever comes and pro-act at the first inclination that things are changing. Leading others is a daunting task in that we acknowledge our responsibility for the lives and well-being of those we lead. Everywhere we look, we may find a book or article that suggests it holds the key to help us be the ultimate leader.

What we know is that strong leadership requires hard work around understanding yourself, your organization, the world around you, and those you lead and serve. This advanced certificate program consists of six full day learning modules, plus our two day Leadership Challenge program. All modules are taught by industry experienced facilitators.
